

MEDA

Title	Efficient Management of Wastewater, its Treatment and Reuse in the Mediterranean Countries (EMWater)
Funding Agency	The European Community under the MEDA WATER PROGRAMME initiative
Project Period	January 2003 – December 2008
Objectives	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• To highlight innovative solutions in wastewater treatment and wastewater reuse.</li> <li>• To strengthen the regional co-operation through the creation of networks among the experts as well as through cross-border knowledge transfer.</li> <li>• To strengthen capacity building through local and regional training programs.</li> <li>• To develop regional policy guidelines for wastewater treatment and reuse in the region.</li> </ul>
Partners	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Institute of Environmental and Water Studies (IEWS), Birzeit University - Palestine</li> <li>• Lebanese American University – Lebanon</li> <li>• University of Balamand – Lebanon</li> <li>• Yildiz Technical University – Turkey</li> <li>• Al Al Bayt University – Jordan</li> <li>• German International Organization for Capacity Building (InWent) - Germany</li> <li>• Adelphi Research gGmbH – Germany</li> <li>• ENEA – Italy</li> <li>• Hamburg University of Technology – Germany</li> </ul>
Project Outputs	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Local and regional capacity building training courses on wastewater treatment and reuse were conducted.</li> <li>• A regional conference on wastewater reuse in the Mediterranean countries was organized.</li> <li>• A pilot plant for training and demonstration purposes was constructed at Ein Senia, Palestine.</li> </ul>

- A country Study entitled: "Efficient Management of Wastewater, its Treatment and Reuse in Four Mediterranean Countries" was published
- A training toolkit entitled: "EMWater Trainer's Toolkit: Efficient Management of Wastewater" was published.
- A practical guide entitled: "A Practical Guide for Decision Makers: Improving Wastewater Treatment and Reuse Practices in the Mediterranean Countries" was published.

